Getting Creative

FROM OUR BOARD CHAIR AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

2021 continued to reshape our lexicon as old words became new again – words like pivot, bubble, protocols – while others took on whole new meanings – social distance, virtual, zoom and teams. But as we made our way through a year of mask wearing, vaccination and limited gatherings, resiliency and community continued to emerge in so many ways.

At the CMHF we had the opportunity to focus on the creation of our new website which serves as our Virtual Hall of Fame. We are proud to count so many of our medical and health leaders among those at the forefront of international research and medical practice; their efforts have contributed significantly to the well-being of our fellow citizens and our international neighbours. With invaluable support from the Canadian Medical Association, we are now able to present the stories and impacts of our Laureates in more engaging ways, including with Impact Theme timelines and the ability to share the Laureate pages on social media from the site. Be Inspired. cdnmedhall.ca | trmc.ca

While a year of waiting did not result in being able to honour our newest inductees in person, we instead met with them online and celebrated these outstanding Canadians in their own homes, with their families. You can watch these moving tributes anytime: cmhf21trmc.ca

Building on our success with virtual Discovery Days in Health Sciences, we created a model to connect students in northern, rural and remote locations with researchers and clinicians in their real-life work setting; we will pilot this initiative early in 2022. We had time also to develop a comprehensive resource of lesson plans for grade seven and eight teachers to teach students about the brain and CMHF Laureates contributions to this field.

Strategically, equity and inclusion emerged as a key focus. We need to reflect the rich diversity of our country in all that we do. We can and will do better.

Throughout the uncertainty and fragility of a second year in a global pandemic, our partners rallied with their support and encouragement, enabling us to continue to honour excellence, preserve history and inspire generations. Volunteer workshop presenters, panellist, lecturers and program reviewers continued to give their time and talent, generously and creatively, to help spread the inspiration. We are grateful.

MISSION

Recognize and celebrate Canadian heroes whose work has advanced health; inspire the pursuit of careers in the health sciences.

VISION

A Canada that honours our medical heroes – those of the past, present and future.

We recognize that diversity, equity and inclusion strengthen the health sciences, health systems and health care communities and leads to enhanced quality, social relevance and impact of health-related disciplines.

Throughout all its activities, the Canadian Medical Hall of Fame strives to engage and promote the active participation of individuals of diverse backgrounds, including those from historically underrepresented groups. We actively seek a diverse pool of award nominations so that those honoured may reflect the diversity of our communities.

Please help us increase the diversity of CMHF Laureates through more nominations of individuals who identify as female or non-binary, and/or who are Black, Indigenous or People of Colour. Nomination deadline is the second Monday of every June.

CMHF Award recipients received a cash award, complimentary travel and admission to the next Canadian Medical Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony and the opportunity to meet and learn first-hand from our Laureates.

CMHF Laureates cite qualities such as perseverance, collaboration and an entrepreneurial spirit as contributors to their success as national and world health leaders.

We celebrate the achievements of the giants of health care in Canada to fuel our pride, but also to inspire the next generation of health leaders with world changing potential.

Through the CMHF Award we aim to:

- Call out the leaders among them
- Facilitate collaboration and mentorship so that they may also achieve significant impact in their own careers
- Challenge them to “think like a Laureate”
- Promote networking opportunities for shared support to foster a growing community of Canadian talent committed to improved care and health outcomes

Canada’s medical schools are invited to identify a second year student who demonstrates these qualities.

In partnership with Canadian universities, hospitals and research centres, we inform and excite Canada's youth about the wide variety of career options in medicine and health care. By connecting high school students to world-class researchers and clinicians in real life settings, we are helping to build our future health workforce.

In response to the ongoing pandemic, we continued to deliver these impactful events virtually. Using a new online platform, we engaged students in a mix of new and previously successful strategies:

- Digital exhibit booths
- Keynote lecture
- Speed networking - one:one sessions with other students
- 75-Minute interactive workshops
- "Health Pros Tell All" career panel Q&A

UNLOCKING THE MYSTERIES OF THE BRAIN

At the Canadian Medical Hall of Fame, we Honour Excellence, Preserve History and Inspire Generations. Interest in the health sciences can begin early and the incredible contributions of Canadian health scientists and clinicians are a source of inspiration to young, developing minds.

Unlocking the Mysteries of the Brain has been developed for elementary school aged children in Grades 7 and 8. This six-session teacher-led learning module explores the brain and central nervous system in the context of the developing brain in adolescence. Links are made to the CMHF Laureates and their contributions to our understanding of these vital organs and systems.

We piloted the program in the fall and subsequent refinements are underway. This free program and teacher resource guide will be available to all Grade 7 and 8 teachers in Fall 2022.
