LEADERSHIP, STEWARDSHIP, & TRUST

MESSAGE FROM THE BOARD CHAIR AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

At the Canadian Medical Hall of Fame, leadership is not only about vision—it is about stewardship. As Board Chair and Executive Director, we are entrusted with safeguarding a legacy built on excellence, integrity, and public trust. This responsibility guides every decision we make, from how we honour Canada's health leaders to how we engage communities, partners, and the next generation.

Throughout the past year, CMHF has continued to strengthen its role as a national institution rooted in thoughtful governance and meaningful impact. Our Board and staff have worked collaboratively to ensure that our programs, partnerships, and practices reflect accountability, transparency, and care. For us, stewardship means honouring the stories we preserve, the people we celebrate, and the confidence placed in us by supporters across the country.

Central to this work is our commitment to connection. We are proud of the growing CMHF community that extends well beyond our Laureates. This year, we renewed our focus on engaging past Discovery Day participants and CMHF Award recipients—individuals whose curiosity, talent, and leadership represent the future of health and medicine. By strengthening relationships with these alumni, we are building a living network of inspiration that connects past achievement with future possibility.

As we look ahead, we remain committed to leading with care and responsibility. We will continue to deepen relationships, broaden our reach, and steward CMHF's mission with intention—ensuring that the trust placed in this institution is honoured through action.

We are grateful to our partners, sponsors, volunteers, and community members whose continued support makes this work possible. Together, we are not only preserving a legacy of excellence in Canadian health leadership—we are shaping its future.

EQUITY & INCLUSION

ENHANCED QUALITY, SOCIAL RELEVANCE & IMPACT

We recognize that diversity, equity and inclusion strengthen the health sciences, health systems and health care communities, leading to enhanced quality, social relevance and impact of health-related disciplines.

Throughout all its activities, the Canadian Medical Hall of Fame (CMHF) strives to engage and promote the active participation of individuals of diverse backgrounds, including those from historically underrepresented groups. We actively seek a pool of award nominations so that those honoured may reflect the diversity of our communities.

The CMHF relies on the community to nominate candidates for induction. Annually, the CMHF Laureate Selection Committee - appointed by the board but operating at arm's length from the board - reviews all nominations received. Inductees are selected from the pool of nominees that includes those nominated this year and the previous two years.

We recognize that the current nomination pool does not fully reflect the diversity of health leadership in Canada. We are committed to increasing the representation of women, non-binary individuals, and Black, Indigenous, and People of Colour among CMHF Laureates. We encourage you to help us achieve this goal by nominating exceptional individuals from these underrepresented communities.

Call for Nominations Appel de candidatures

Thank you, Nominators, for responding to our call for diversity! The community continues to support our commitment to equity and inclusion, with more than half of all nominees being women and/or Indigenous, Black, or People of Colour.

Canadian Medical Hall of Fame Award

Sponsored by Scotiabank.

Laureates of the Canadian Medical Hall of Fame (CMHF) cite qualities such as perseverance, collaboration and entrepreneurial spirit as contributors to their success as national and world health leaders. The CMHF Award recognizes medical students who demonstrate these qualities and show outstanding potential as future leaders and innovators of health care in Canada.

Each Canadian medical school is invited to nominate one medical student, completing their second undergraduate year of study at the time of application who has demonstrated leadership through school or community activities, superior interpersonal and communication skills as well as academic excellence.

After each medical school reviews all applicants, their dean of medicine submits the nomination of one candidate for this award to the CMHF, and applicants are notified by their medical school if their nomination has been put forth. Once CMHF receives the nominations, our board of directors reviews and ratifies them, and successful recipients are formally informed by the CMHF. The award recipients' success stories are celebrated by the CMHF and their respective medical schools.

Each CMHF Award recipient receives a cash award, a complimentary ticket and a travel subsidy to the Induction Ceremony the following year. Award recipients have the opportunity to network with each other and the Laureates at a private breakfast the day after the ceremony.

The CMHF is committed to the career development of our Award recipients and makes every effort to connect them to our Laureates, board members or friends of the CMHF. Through the CMHF Award, we aim to:

- Call out leaders among medical students
- Facilitate collaboration and mentorship between our Laureates and awardees so that our award recipients may achieve significant impact in their own careers
- Challenge recipients to “think like a Laureate”
- Promote networking opportunities for shared support to foster a growing community of Canadian talent committed to improved care and health outcomes

WE VALUE STUDENT FEEDBACK

"Very organized, efficiently run. So much variety of workshops, the ones I took were very informative.

Many qualified, impressive healthcare professionals shared valuable knowledge. I really enjoyed the mix of listening, asking questions, and hands-on opportunities to learn more about different healthcare fields. I loved getting to meet people, have fun, and gain more insight/knowledge to make better decisions for university and career choices."

MUSEUM SCHOOL AND HALL VISITS

In partnership with the London Heritage Council, Museum School is an opportunity for senior elementary classes to 'move in' to the Hall for a full week to learn about Canada's past and present health heroes, meet local scientists working with the latest technology, and imagine making medical discoveries. In 2025, we had the pleasure of learning alongside students from Byron Somerset, Stoney Creek, Mounthsfield, Orchard Park Public School and St. Theresa Catholic School.

OUR EXHIBIT HALL IN ACTION

Thank you to our Exhibit Hall sponsor Trudell Medical Ltd. for enhancing visitor experience. Conveniently located at 100 Kellogg Lane, Canada's largest entertainment complex, our Exhibit Hall remained a vibrant hub for community engagement throughout 2025. Visitors explored interactive displays, viewed inspiring tribute videos in the Laureate Theatre, took part in our popular self-guided trivia game, and entered exciting draws for a chance to win prizes.

In recognition of the 150th anniversary of the London Health Sciences Centre (LHSC), we proudly showcased its celebration materials in our "Community and Research in Action" display and on our Mini Theatre Wall. Earlier in the year, we were also delighted to host the Robarts Research Institute, highlighting their groundbreaking contributions to medical science.

We had the distinct honour of welcoming Dr. Margot Burnell, President-Elect of the Canadian Medical Association (CMA), to our hall — a memorable moment that underscored our continued commitment to connecting healthcare, research, and community.
